

Sporting Clays Fundraiser

April 22, 2022

The Mechanical Craft Training Institute (MCTI) invites you to support our program and the construction industry by participating in our First Annual Sporting Clays Fundraiser on Friday, April 22, 2022, at Selwood Farm located in Alpine, Alabama.

What will your support do?

- ↗ Grow the number of classes we offer from six (6) to twelve (12).
- ↗ Meet the demand for trained construction workers within the industry.
- ↗ Curb the tide of the skilled men and women who are retiring from the industry.
- ↗ Promote interest in construction trades through marketing and recruiting.
- ↗ Provide needed Chromebooks enabling individuals to participate in live instruction while working beyond driving distance to class.

Who are we?

MCTI, an innovative, 501(c)(3) program, provides a sustainable training system where one can perfect his/her craft, make connections in the industry, and expand skills. Upon completion of an MCTI program, individuals have the training required for journeyman's level job performance and certification. MCTI uses industry-leading technology and hands-on instruction to provide educational excellence in mechanical systems for individuals after high school, following NCCER certified curriculum.

MCTI partners with a variety of mechanical craft businesses in the area to provide a skilled workforce possessing the essential knowledge to perform their scope and become an intricate trade partner in the areas of commercial plumbing, pipefitting, HVAC, and sheet metal. Additionally, MCTI provides the related instruction required for DOL Apprenticeship Programs as well as opportunities for individuals to receive training through various scholarship programs - meaning no cost to the individual.

Our program enhances the surrounding economy and supports our local and state mechanical contractors by using resources to produce a skilled, productive, and employment-ready workforce via our core values:

A Desire to Grow Professionally - A Passion for the Construction Industry - A Coachable Disposition for Instruction
